My Health Record

Readiness checklist

The following checklist provides a summary of the key steps to prepare for Assisted Registration.

Eligibility to provide Assisted Registration

To provide Assisted Registration, your organisation must be registered as a healthcare provider organisation with the My Health Record system. For more information about participating in the My Health Record system, visit www.myhealthrecord.gov.au or email myhealthrecord.AssistedReg@health.gov.au.

Resources and training

Assess what resources might be required to offer Assisted Registration to your patients. The time and resources required will depend on your organisation's approach to patients to whom you provide Assisted Registration, such as whether your organisation will target particular cohorts or patients in general, or whether you will have staff dedicated to providing this service or performing it among other duties. You must authorise and provide training for employees who will provide Assisted Registration on behalf of your organisation.

Policies

Your organisation must develop and implement a written policy to support the provision of Assisted Registration. Legislation requires your organisation to have a policy in place that reasonably addresses how it will authorise employees to provide Assisted Registration, the training that will be provided before an employee is authorised, how your organisation will record individual consent and how individuals will be identified for Assisted Registration.

Privacy

Your organisation must be aware of its privacy obligations under the Commonwealth's Privacy Act 1988 or the privacy law of your state or territory. You will need to comply with the obligations when you provide Assisted Registration.

Forms and information

Ensure Essential Information and Assisted Registration application forms are available for your patients. Go to <http://www.myhealthrecord.gov.au> to obtain these forms.

Software

Your organisation will need to have the Assisted Registration Tool or equivalent software which supports Assisted Registration.

Advice

You may want to seek independent legal advice if you have questions about your obligations.

If you have completed each of the steps described above and you understand your organisation's role and obligations in providing Assisted Registration, you are ready to begin providing Assisted Registration to individuals.
